Memphis: "The only State officer who had any ing to do with the placing of the school and in the Tennessee National Bank of Memphis, was Treasurer Stanford, who was the only Johnson Democrat connected with the State government. The fund remained in the keeping of the Governor and Comproller for fifteen months, in perfect safety when Dr. Stanford went to the Comptroll er's office and took possession of it as the legal custodian of the school fund. This tep was taken without the knowledge of the Governor. It was the Treasurer's personal act. The Comptroller had no discretion in the premises. His safe had been used to keep the bonds as a matter of convenience, and not of legal duty, and h could do nothing but surrender them to the officer appointed by law to keep them. The Treasurer gave no intimation to Governor Brownlow as to the use he intended to make of the bonds, and, without consultation advice, placed the full amount in the hands of the President of the Tennessee National Bank of Memphis. The Radical officers of two hundred thousand dollars, with secuthe State government were kept ignorant of the transaction, and the officer whose folly and crime endangered so large a fund was an original Johnson Democrat, not in

We know nothing as to the politics of the late Dr. Stanford. We have heard that he was an old line Whig, and he was regarded here by outsiders as an intens Radical. If he gave any " aid and com fort" to the Johnson Democrats, they are singularly unaware of the fact. Bu how came this "Johnson Democrat" t be entrusted with the custody of the school fund? The Governor states that the fund remained in the keeping of the Governor and Comptroller for fifteen months in perfect safety." Then why was it disturbed? and who took it from their keeping? The Governor says Dr Stanford took it. But who authorized him to take charge of this fund? Let In the House of Representatives or the 13th of December, 1865, Mr. Mulloy offered a resolution requiring the Gov ernor, Secretary of State, and Comptroller to pay to the Superintendent of Public Instruction six hundred and eighteen thousand two bundred and fifty dellars, with accrued interest," that being the amount realized from the sale of the coin belonging to the Bank of Tennessee. This resolution was adopted on the 14th. On the 5th of February, 1866, this resolution came up in the Senate, when Mr. Trimble offered a bill in lieu "to wind up and settle the business of the Bank of Tennessee," This bill was passed through the Senate, and when it came up on its third reading in the House, Mr. Patton offered an amendment in lieu of the fifth section, providing as follows:

"That the President and Directors, without delay, and at as early a day as practicable, cause an assignment and deeds o trust of all the assets of said bank and branches, and property of all kinds, real, personal, and mixed, including the fund above described of $618,250, and all interest thereon accrued or accruing, to be made and executed in the name and behalf of the Bank of Tennessee, and under its seal, for the uses and in trust as follows: First, to secure the full sum of $1,500,000, the amount of the common school fund deposited in the Bank of Tennessee by acts of the Legislature, which shall be a preferred claim, with interest accrued and accruing on said sum of $1,500,000, since the 6th day of May, 1861, which sum of $618,250, United States seven-thirty bonds. hall be retained and placed in the hands of the Treasurer of the State of Tennessee, as part of the common school fund originally deposited in the Bank of Tennessee," etc. This amendment was adopted, and the third reading by the following vote: Ayes-Messrs, Anderson, Arnell, Baker, Carter, Clingan, Doughty, Dowdy, Donaldson, Duggan, Dunnaway, Fuson, Garner, Gilmer, Grimmett, Hudson, Hale, Jarvis, Jones of Claiborne, Mason, Maxwell, Mc-Nair, Mullins, Moss, Norman, Ordway, Parks, Patton, Porter, Puckett, Raulston, Rodgers, Simmerly, Smith of Hardeman, Smith of Obion, Snodderly, Thornburgh, Underwood, Waters of Wilson, Waters of Madison, Walker of Rhea, Welsh, Williams, Willis, Woodcock, and Woods-45. Noes-Messra, Brandon, Bledsoe, Cow-ard, Elliott, Faulkner, Garrett, Jones of Greene, Melton, Murphy, Nix, Scales, Thomas, Warren, Winn, and Speaker Heiskell-15. The bill as amended came up in the Senate on the 16th of February, 1866, for concurrence in the House amendments. and it appears that Mr. Trimble smelt a mouse of considerable size in that portion of the amendment touching the school fund, for he "moved a concurrence in all the House amendments to the bill, except that part of the amendment to the fifth section, making the Treasurer of the State the custodian of the school fund set apart therein out of the assets of the Bank of Tennessee." But his scruples seem to have been overcome, for he subsequently "modified his motion, and moved a concurrence in all the House amendments to the bill." The vote on Mr. Trimble's motion was as follows :

as Treasurer fully confirms this opinion. He says in that letter : "Regarding this fund of $618,250 as 'public money,' which had come into my hands 'on account of the State,' I felt bound to deposit in some fiscal agent of the State at the earliest possible moment, Three National Banks had been notified by me of their appointment as depositories of bill as amended, was then passed on its

the public moneys. On the 5th of June last the Tennessee National Bank filed its bond, properly endorsed, with the Secretary of State, and on the same day, according to my understanding of the law, and under a sense of imperative duty. I deposited this fund in the hands of the President of that bank, taking his receipt, the bank agreeing to return this fund in United States 7-30 Treasury notes of the same series, I deposited it in the Tennessee National Bank because I believed it to be one of the best conducted in the State, and because it was the only one that had qualified itself by posit it, and could deposit no where else at COUNTRY SEAT We have now shown that the movement to take the school fund from "the keeping of the Governor and Comptroller, where it had remained fifteen months in perfect safety," and placing it in the hands of the Treasurer, originated with the political friends and partizans of Gov. Brownlow, and that it was carried through the Legislature by their votes. We have shown that the authority under which the Treasurer deposited the school | The Residence of Maj. G. A. Pillow, fund in the Tennessee National Bank was conferred upon that officer by the Radical members of the Legislature, specially for that purpose, and that they could not have been ignorant of the fact that the Comptroller had refused his sanction to the selection of that bank as the fiscal agent of the State. What appliances were used to induce the Radical members of the Legislature to make this change in the law, under which Dr. Stanford acted, is a matter about which there has been a good deal of speculation. But the great fact stands cut in bold relief that but for the action of the Radical members of the Legislature, the political friends and partizans of the Governor, the school fund would have remained, and would to-day have been in the keeping of the Governor and Comp troller. Dr. Stanford was simply the instrument of the Radical Legislature and the men who manipulated that virtuous body; and whatever crime atder which Treasurer Stanford "went taches to him for making the transfer to the Comptroller's office and took pos- and "endangering so large a fund," attaches also to the Radical members of ferred upon him on the motion of a the Legislature, who were accessories

The question in this case was, whether certain permits issued by special agents of the Treasury department and approved by General Banks then commanding the department of New Orleans, and by Rear Admiral Farragut, in command of the Gulf squadron, were sufficient to legalize the cotton trade beyond the lines of the department. The Court held that they were not; that the treasury regulations did not contem plate or authorize such permits; that they were in conflict with the statute in that re gard, and could only be issued by the President. The military commander had not the authority to warrant or authorize rade beyond the lines. The Secretary of the Treasury could only regulate trade under the laws of such a character after they had been granted by the President. Captain A. P.
